The Greek Prime Minister, George Papandreou, later announced he would hold a referendum in Greece on whether to accept or reject the deal. Some people think it is right that the Greek people should decide whether or not to accept the deal in a referendum.

It is right that the Greek people should be able to vote on the bailout in a referendum	33	27	36	21	34	27	36	37	30	28	35	36	30	34	33	31	36	33	33	29

The government is seeking changes to public sector pensions that will require public sector workers to work for longer and contribute more to their pensions. The government say that with people living longer the changes are necessary to make public sector pensions affordable in the long term. The trade Unions say that changes have already been made that make current pensions sustainable.

Do you think it is right or wrong for the government to ask public sector workers to...

...contribute more of their salary towards their pension?

This week the government announced changes to their proposed public sector pension scheme. Under the changes, public sector workers due to retire within ten years will no longer have to retire later and pension entitlements will be able to be built up at a quicker rate than originally proposed. Public sector workers will, however, still have to pay more of their salary towards their pensions.

Thinking about these proposed changes, which of the following best reflects your view?
