Thinking about the funds the Labour party receives from the trade unions, which of the following best reflects your view?

There is nothing wrong with Labour receiving a large amount of funds from the Trade Unions - they are part of the Labour party
 Labour should try and reduce the amount of money they receive from the Trade Unions - the present reliance on Union money risks giving them too much influence over the party's policies and candidate selection

A recent report by the National Audit Office has found some former senior BBC staff received pay offs larger than they should have, finding that the “the BBC has breached its own policies on severance too often and without good reason”

Do you think the police should or should not investigate whether there was any actual criminal wrongdoing in the severance pay given to some former BBC staff?
