Currently, it is illegal for doctors to help a terminally ill patient to die in Britain.

If your MP was to vote in support of a change in the law to allow assisted dying for terminally ill, mentally competent adults in Britain would you feel more positive or more negative towards them, or would it make no difference to you?

Because of the law in Britain, some British patients decide to travel to Switzerland, where assisted dying is in certain circumstances legal.

Would you be in favour or against holding a parliamentary debate on the issue of Britons travelling abroad to Switzerland to be assisted to die?
