

1. College athlete unions

Do you think college athletes should be allowed to form labor unions to bargain over things like medical coverage and better terms for scholarships from their schools, or not?

5. College athletes as employees of the university

Some people say that college athletes should legally be considered employees of their schools because many of them receive scholarships that are only paid if they participate in college athletics. Other people say that college athletes are students participating in athletics voluntarily and should not be considered employees. Which comes closest to your opinion?
