The government has rejected industry's calls for a third runway at Heathrow on the basis that it would be environmentally damaging, increase congestion and disrupt the lives of tens of thousands of residents living nearby.

Do you think the government are right or wrong to reject the idea of a third runway at Heathrow?

Right - there should not be a third runway at Heathrow	41	42	40	59	44	36	45	41	40	47	36	42	41	44	37	39	44	42	38	35	42	40	40	42

Currently the European Union imposes quotas on the amount of each species of fish that can be caught in order to try and preserve fishing stocks. Some people think these fishing quotas should be lower in order to better preserve stocks of fish like cod, hake and mackerel, while other people think they should be increased to allow fishermen to catch more fish.

From what you have read or heard about current quotas, do you think the European Union should impose stricter quotas on fish, should relax the quotas to allow more fish to be caught, or is the current balance about right?

The government is proposing to introduce 127 Marine Conservation Zones around the coast of Britain. These will protect rare species, habitats and the diversity of sealife in British waters

In most of these areas some fishing or development will still be allowed, so long as it does not damage the characteristic being protected in that area. Which of the following best reflects your view?

Fishing and development should be totally banned in the Marine Conservation Zones	31	26	34	45	29	33	32	35	27	41	31	33	26	33	29	31	31	31	33	28	31	32	32	31

Thinking about how tickets to the Olympics were distributed, which of the following best reflects your view?
