As you are probably aware, there is a long-running dispute between British Airways and cabin staff belonging to the Unite trade union. Some short strikes have been held, and a further strike, lasting 5 days, is due to start on Monday 24th May.

Who do you blame more for these strikes?

The Unite trade union	32	51	18	29	39	26	33	31	33	36	27	32	42	28	27	23

BA has gone to court a number of times to argue that Unite has not fully complied with the law regarding strike ballots; though there is no dispute that a substantial majority of the relevant Unite members have voted more than once for strike action. Do you think...?

The law should be changed, so that employers can't exploit legal technicalities to prevent strikes that have the support of a clear majority of employees	32	19	47	36	36	29	26	38	32	30	35	32	28	34	35	38
The law should be left as it is: unions have only themselves to blame if they fail to comply fully with the law	52	73	37	48	55	50	50	49	57	58	46	52	59	48	47	51
